WRITING

Many children usually go to school. But in some cases, children get sick and cannot go to school, so they switch to home schooling.

On the one hand, when a child alone is given more attention to him than when he is in class. Thus, they work out the mistakes of the student. There is still a lot of flimsy plus this. Another good thing is that there is a bit more free time. Well, a number of advantages of home schooling encourages the child to study for the sake of knowledge and not for the sake of grades. Children learn in a safe and comfortable environment.

But on the other hand, the biggest minus is the social factor. It will be more difficult for children to adapt in society, to talk with peers. Still home-based education requires a lot of free time and the efforts of parents, and they need to correctly allocate their time, plans and efforts.

In conclusion, I would like to say that I believe that home shooting is good at 50 percent. Children need to communicate most of our lives. Well, school is a good memory of a carefree childhood for many years.
